JESUS CHRIST.. GOD. GOD AND MAN, 4 JESUS CHRIS-T t I GOD GOD AND, MAN CONFERENCES DELIVERED AT NOTRE DAME IN PARIS BY THE REV. PERE LACORDAIRE, OF THE ORDER OF FRIAR-PREACHERS. TRANSLATORS PREFACE. THE subject of the following Conferences is daily attracting increased attention in England-so justly famed for her religious feeling and strong sense, yet so distracted by divisions which contradict the authority, the object, and the work of Jesus Christ. Many minds that know not the repose of divine faith, are-timidly perhaps, but anxiously-watching this great question requiring, not only to believe, but also, and rightly, to know why they should believe. Humbly desiring to discharge a part of the deep debt of gratitude which he owes to the author of these celebrated discourses, the translator respectfully offers them to his well-beloved country, as a guide in her present religious confusion and a support in her manifest and perplexing doubts, hoping and believing that they will be to others what they have been to him, namely, heralds of that glorious liberty which is the ever-blessed fruit of Catholic Christianity. DECLARATION. ALTHOUGH I have constantly taught under the authority and in the presence of the Archbishops of Paris, and my doctrine has never been criticised or called in question by them although that same doctrine, published by the press, has excited neither reproach nor discussion yet, lest in treating so many theological questions some involuntary error may have escaped me, and this I must and do readily presume from my weakness, I declare that I submit my Conferences to the Catholic Church, whose son I am, and in particular to the Holy Roman Church, the mother and mistress of all Churches, wherein resides the plenitude of the authority founded upon earth by our Lord Jesus Christ. I also declare again that I do not acknowledge the pretended reproductions of my Conferences which have been made by various periodicals, whatever be their form or name. I once more protest against that violation of literary rights, whose result is to place under the name ... v111 DECLARATION. of a preacher discourses . imperfectly reported amidst an immense auditory, and not less imperfectly corrected by the authors of such speculation. Should the doctrine contained in these publications be attacked, I decline the responsibility thereof as of a work which is not mine, and for which I can be held responsible only by a violation of all right and equity.
